SEC Information. Certain Information provided on this web site has been filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") (such Information being referred to as "SEC Information"). Carbon does not assume any duty of disclosure beyond that which is imposed by law and expressly disclaims any duty to update any Information contained in the SEC Information. The SEC Information should be read in conjunction with Carbon's periodic reports filed with the SEC, including the disclosures therein of certain factors which may affect the registrant's future performance. Individual statements appearing in the SEC Information are intended to be read in conjunction with and in the context of the complete SEC Information documents in which they appear, rather than as stand-alone statements. Cautionary Note to U.S. Investors – Effective January 1, 2010, the SEC permits oil and gas companies, in their filings with the SEC, to disclose not only "proved" reserves (i.e., quantities of oil and gas that are estimated to be recoverable with a high degree of confidence), but also "probable" reserves (i.e., quantities of oil and gas that are as likely as not to be recovered) as well as "possible" reserves (i.e., additional quantities of oil and gas that might be recovered, but with a lower probability than probable reserves). As indicated above, statements of reserves are only estimates and may not correspond to the ultimate quantities of oil and gas recovered. Any reserve estimates provided on this web site that are not specifically designated as being estimates of proved reserves may include estimated reserves not necessarily calculated in accordance with, or contemplated by, the SEC's latest reserve reporting guidelines. We also use certain terms on this web site, such as "unrisked potential," "resource potential," "reserve potential," or other descriptions of reserves potentially recoverable through additional drilling or recovery techniques, that the SEC's guidelines strictly prohibit us from including in filings with the SEC. Investors are urged to consider closely the disclosure in our Annual Reports on Form 10-K and other filings made by us with the SEC that are available on our web site at www.carbonnaturalgas.com under the Investor Relations tab or by calling us at (720) 407-4030. You can also obtain these filings from the SEC by calling 1-800-SEC-0330.

Forward-Looking Statements. Carbon's web site also contains certain forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities

Exchange Act of 1934. All statements, other than statements of historical facts, that address activities that Carbon assumes, plans, expects, believes, projects, estimates or anticipates (and other similar expressions) will, should or may occur in the future are forward-looking statements. The forward-looking statements provided are based on management's current belief, based on currently available information, as to the outcome and timing of future events. Carbon cautions that its future natural gas, oil and liquids production, revenues, cash flows, liquidity, plans for future operations, expenses, outlook for oil and natural gas prices, timing and capital expenditures, and other forward-looking statements are subject to all of the risks and uncertainties normally incident to Carbon's exploration for, and development, production and sale of, oil and gas.

These risks include, but are not limited to, oil and natural gas price volatility, Carbon's access to cash flows and other sources of liquidity to fund its capital expenditures, its level of indebtedness, its ability to replace production, a lack of availability of goods and services, environmental risks, drilling and other operating risks, regulatory changes, the uncertainty inherent in estimating future oil and gas production or reserves, economic conditions and other risks as described in reports that Carbon files with the SEC, including its Annual Report on Form 10-K, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, and Current Reports on Form 8-K. Any of these factors could cause Carbon's actual results and plans to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements.

All forward-looking statements attributable to Carbon are expressly qualified in their entirety by this cautionary statement. Carbon disclaims any obligation to update forward-looking statements contained on its web site, except as may be required by law.
